(last updated: Feb 06/10)

Gary McHale

info@canace.ca info@caledoniawakeupcall.com

Gary McHale is a full time Civil Rights Advocate working to stop violence and OPP racially-based policing during Aboriginal land claims.

He has been an entrepreneur all his life, creating, selling and servicing accounting software for mid to large corporations. He trades on his extensive experience with the Income Tax Act by offering tax preparation services. Gary is also a world-class wildlife photographer who has travelled extensively with wife Christine to capture images for their series of interactive wildlife CD ROM's which they were about to take to market prior to becoming involved in the Caledonia issue. Despite having invested countless hours and funds in the design and production of the series the McHales put their business plans on hold to dedicate their time to oppose racially-based policing practices of the OPP.

Mr. McHale attended a Baptist Seminary and has been a deacon in the church, and preached and/or taught in various churches in Ontario. He has also authored several Christian books. His activism in Caledonia arises out of his deeply-held religious belief that he as a Christian has a duty to speak out against the injustices of race-based policing even if it means travelling to another community.

- Co-founder and Executive Director for Canadian Advocates for Charter Equality (www.CANACE.ca).
- Received 4,821 votes \(10% of popular vote\) in 2008 federal election in riding of Haldimand-Norfolk as independent candidate running primarily on 'law and order' platform highlighting suffering of innocent Caledonia residents. Took every poll in Caledonia except two in which he placed second, beating incumbent Conservative cabinet minister and high profile Liberal candidate. Official campaign website: <http://www.garymchale.ca/>
- Organizer of Oct 15/06 inaugural 'March for Freedom' in Caledonia which attracted extraordinary media attention on the 2,000 people who peacefully marched through Caledonia to protest against 'Two Tier Justice' in their town. Guest speakers included MPP Toby Barrett, Ipperwash resident/community leader Mary-Lou LaPratte and Caledonia resident Anne-Marie VanSickle.
- Co-organizer and speaker at various peaceful public protests against racially-based law enforcement in Caledonia/Haldimand County during the ongoing land claim dispute.

- Editor of CaledoniaWakeUpCall.com: written numerous editorials related to Caledonia, Ipperwash land claim lawlessness and human rights issues. Averages approx. 450,000 stories read per month by 18,000 unique visitors that include government agencies across Canada and 138 major corporations in North America. Two year totals (as of July 23/08): 62.6 million hits, 16.8 million files downloaded, 926 GB of data transferred.

Failed Coverage](#) for providing valuable information about the Caledonia crisis when other media failed to cover the issues. (See also: Ryerson Review of Journalism: McHale & Vandermaas important news sources for Caledonia dispute)

- Key source for feature article on Caledonia crisis, 'The Road to Anarchy' by Western Standard magazine, Sept 11/06.
- Regular columnist in Caledonia-based Regional News since December 2008. His columns can be read at www.caledoniawakeupcall.com/ (scroll down to 'Court Beat & Regional News')
- Successfully gathered necessary evidence to lay 9 charges – Extortion, Intimidation and Mischief – via Private Prosecution provision of the Criminal Code against two well known native protesters responsible for illegal occupations and construction site shut-downs in Hagersville, Cayuga and Brantford. Families now live in a finished Cayuga development. Mr. McHale has an Application before the Ontario Divisional Court to overturn the Crown's decision to drop the Extortion and Intimidation charges.
- Conducted legal research to assist CANACE co-founder Jeff Parkinson in setting a Canadian legal precedent by winning two important Ontario Superior Court of Justice rulings related to the right of citizens to file private prosecutions in Parkinson v. R., 2009 (listed on CanLII as R. v. Parkinson, 2009 CanLII 729 \(ON S.C.\)), and Parkinson v. R., 2008 (listed on CanLII as R. v. Parkinson, 2008 CanLII 68177 \(ON S.C.\))

The Crown had convinced a Justice of the Peace to dismiss charges of Mischief against two OPP officers for assisting native protesters in blockading private property to keep the legal owner out even though there was evidence to support the charge. Mr. Parkinson and Mr. McHale were successful in convincing Justice T.D. Marshall to issue an Order of Mandamus to compel the issuance of process for the charges.

- Won an Ontario Superior Court of Justice ruling on July 02/09 - McHale v. R., 2009 – which severely limits the Crown's ability to interfere with right of a citizen to file a private prosecution. The Crown and Justice of the Peace had prevented Mr. McHale from presenting evidence against three senior government officials who played a role in allowing a Caledonia occupation to continue. He was successful in using an Order of Mandamus to compel a new hearing, but the Attorney General has appealed to the Ontario Court of Appeals.

Of special note in this case is that Justice Marshall emphasized the vital importance to Canadian democracy of the issues Mr. McHale was bringing before the Court by calling the right of a citizen to bring private charges against government officials 'a bulwark of democracy.' He also quoted from one of the fathers of the United States Constitution:

“Considerate men...ought to prize whatever will tend to...fortify that temper in the courts (independence); as no one can be sure that he may not be tomorrow the victim of a spirit of injustice, by which he may be a gainer today.”

- Made Canadian legal history on Dec 31/09 by winning an Ontario Superior Court ruling by Justice David Crane – McHale v. Ontario Attorney General, 2009 - ordering a Justice of the Peace to issue process for a criminal charge against Ontario Provincial Police Commissioner Julian Fantino in connection with an April 07/07 email to Haldimand Council which was regarded as a threat by the Mayor and held to be a threat by the court.

McHale v. Ontario Attorney General, 2009 was an Order of Mandamus overturning the lower court’s decision not to issue a charge of ‘Influencing Municipal Official’ under s. 123(2) of the Criminal Code and represents the first time that a high-ranking police official has been charged in Canada for such an offence.

CANACE founders have been demanding accountability from two separate ministers with respect to this matter for nearly three years, but their refusal to act - regrettably - made it necessary to use the private prosecution provisions of the Criminal Code against the Commissioner.

NOTE: Although the Crown has appealed McHale v. R., 2009 to the Ontario Court of Appeals, the legal actions commenced by CANACE founders have now defined the limits of the private prosecution process for all Canadians: where there is some evidence to support a criminal charge neither the Crown or the Justice of the Peace can prevent evidence from being heard or the issuance of process – even when the alleged offender holds high office.

Mr. McHale has no formal legal training.

Mr. McHale was arrested on Dec 16/06 with Mark Vandermaas, and was held in jail overnight without charge. Lawsuits by both men are before the Court, and complaints are before the Ontario Human Rights Commission.

Mary-Lou LaPratte

mlapratte@cogeco.ca

Mary-Lou LaPratte lived in Ipperwash from 1990 to 2007 and was once nominated – unsuccessfully – for the Order of Canada for her tireless work in pursuing justice for the people of Ipperwash. Her house was approximately 400 feet from the site where Dudley George fell. In addition to a decade of assaults, thefts, and intimidation suffered at the hands of native protesters, she and other residents were forced to defend their homes against an invalid land claim at a cost of $500,000.

Mary-Lou continues to fight for justice and recognition for the suffering of innocent Ipperwash residents. She supplied the majority of documents for the Ipperwash Papers project, including the 29-page chronological history of residents' suffering which the Ipperwash Inquiry refused to publish. It is a shocking indictment of race-based policing that should be a 'must read' for every Canadian citizen. It is listed as document A-1 in the Documents Index at <http://www.ipperwashpapers.ca/>.

Jeff Parkinson

jparkinson@simcom.on.ca

Jeff Parkinson works full time on behalf of CANACE, mainly behind the scenes. He has worked as a truck driver, foster parent, security guard and as an EBay entrepreneur, but his passion is for photography, a talent that has proven invaluable in gathering crucial evidence during CANACE protests to be used in private prosecutions, the defence of falsely accused activists and in conveying the CANACE message to the public.

- Co-founder, Secretary/Director of Multimedia Production, Canadian Advocates for Charter Equality (www.CANACE.ca).
- Made legal history by winning two important Ontario Superior Court rulings related to the right of citizens to file private prosecutions in Parkinson v. R., 2009 (listed on CanLII as R. v. Parkinson, 2009 CanLII 729 \(ON S.C.\)), and Parkinson v. R., 2008 (listed on CanLII as R. v. Parkinson, 2008 CanLII 68177 \(ON S.C.\)) Other than legal research and in-court assistance provided by CANACE co-founder Gary McHale, Mr. Parkinson was unrepresented by legal counsel.

Background: the Crown had convinced a Justice of the Peace to dismiss charges of Mischief against two OPP officers for assisting native protesters in blockading private property to keep the legal owner out even though there was evidence to support the charge. Mr. Parkinson and Mr. McHale were successful in convincing Justice T.D. Marshall to issue an Order of Mandamus to effectively compel the issuance of process for the charges.

Mr. Parkinson's important work laid the foundation for the subsequent McHale v. R., 2009 and McHale v. Ontario Attorney General, 2009 (Mandamus ordering issuance of criminal charge vs. OPP Commissioner Julian Fantino) decisions.

NOTE: Although the Crown has appealed McHale v. R., 2009 to the Ontario Court of Appeals, the legal actions commenced by CANACE founders have now defined the limits of the private prosecution process for all Canadians: where there is some evidence to support a criminal charge neither the Crown or the Justice of the Peace can prevent evidence from being heard or the issuance of process – even when the alleged offender holds high office.

Mr. Parkinson has no formal legal training.

- Succeeded in having an Assault charge certified against a municipal official via private prosecution, January 2008.
- Editor of CaledoniaWakeUpCall blog. Authored more than 150 articles and editorials on land claim lawlessness, OPP civil rights violations and the CANACE struggle to restore the rule of law in Ontario with over 133,000 pages viewed to date (as of Jan 08/10).
- Captured crucial video evidence proving that CANACE co-founder Gary McHale and a Caledonia resident were the victims of an assault and false assault accusations by a supporters of an illegal smoke shack in Caledonia on Dec 01/07. Jeff's evidence led to a Public Mischief charge against one woman for filing a false police report.
- Captured evidence of assaults on OPP officers, Caledonia residents and CANACE co-founders Mark Vandermaas and Gary McHale on Dec 01/07 during which he was thrown to the ground and knocked unconscious before being taken to hospital.
- Gathered evidence at site of illegal occupation and provided court testimony to assist CANACE in obtaining court certification for charges of Extortion, Intimidation and Assault against two leaders of illegal occupations at construction sites in Hagersville and Cayuga, Ontario.
- Served as election volunteer, event organizer and videographer for Gary McHale who received 4,821 votes in 2008 federal election in riding of Haldimand-Norfolk as independent candidate running primarily on 'law and order' platform highlighting suffering of innocent Caledonia residents.
- Captured important images and produced short movies documenting CANACE activities, including a protest at the home of OPP Commissioner Julian Fantino on March 02/08.

See: 'Fantino home protest video – we will not give up our rights!'

CANACE 2009 Year in Review

- Speaker at CANACE 'Canada at the Crossroads' seminar, Caledonia Lions Hall, June 10/07.
- Speaker at CANACE 'Legalized MYTHS of Illegal Occupations' seminar on topic of using private prosecutions under Criminal Code to counter OPP refusal to enforce law.
